

Llangain Community News

October

Noticeboards. The two village noticeboards are in need of repair because of use and the effects of the weather and it was resolved that ,rather than continue to repair them, it is hoped to obtain a grant to fund new ones for the use of the community.

Recycling Facility. The new recycling facilities have been established by the school wall and all residents are encouraged to use it as they need.

Village Website. The Council has been given a grant to develop a new website to replace the existing one which is being discontinued. The contract for its development and hosting has been awarded to James King Media who is based in Llanfallteg, Carmarthenshire. It is hoped to have it fully operational and populated by March 2014 and will be available for the village's clubs and organisations. Further details about using it and its contents will be available in the new year and should anyone in the village wish to volunteer to input and update information on the site, please contact Mr Iwan Griffiths, Clerk to the Council on 01267290199.

Cooption. Congratulations to Mrs Freeman Church House Farm who was coopted onto the Council at their October meeting.

Highways Concerns. Members have noted an increase in the amount of large agricultural machinery using the roads in the community not only travelling to and from land within the community, but also to and from land outside the community. Concerns have been expressed by residents,with which members agree,over the speed and dimensions of such vehicles along narrow roads with no footways or passing places,creating danger for all road users and pedestrians in particular.
